of the Bank of America. Like Held, he was originally a Kentuckian.

Telegrams came in from the Department yesterday, instructing Harlan Cleveland, who has been in Africa, to change his schedule and visit me today, before returning to Washington. It has been decided to have conversations in London between representatives of the U.S., U.K., and Belgium, on the Congo.

Harlan Cleveland arrived from Brussels, with Siscoe. They discussed with Joe Wagner and myself what might be done in connection with the Department's instructions. It was decided to postpone any action here until Cleveland studied the situation in Washington. He has been a bit out of touch for some time with affairs at home, since he has been travelling extensively in Africa.

Tonight we had a dinner for the Herters. The guests were

Lord and Lady Inchyra
Sir Harold and Lady Caccia
Hon. and Mrs. John Hay Whitney
Mr. Wilmarth Lewis
Mrs. Chauncey Parker
Mrs. Philbin
Mr. Wells

I left at 9:05 from Euston Station, by train, for Blackpool. John Service met me at Preston, and we motored over to the Winter Gardens, in Blackpool. I lunched on the train. We had coffee with Rotarian and Mrs. L. G. Ashcroft, Mr. and Mrs. J. Abey (he is from Illinois, and is President of Rotary International, the world-wide Rotary organization), and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bennett, President of Rotary International in Great Britain and Ireland. The Mayor and his wife also came to meet us. He is a nice fellow, a Methodist preacher by profession. I addressed the afternoon session, of almost 5,000 people, in these terms:
